Edwin A. Whitney and family are visiting with his parents at 343 Belleville Ave.

Halsey M. Barrett went to Boston last Friday, returning to town the first of the week.

Miss Annie M. Morris is at the Mt. Everett House, among the Berkshires in Mass.

Miss Georgia Cameron of Brooklyn is staying with friends on Belleville Ave.

Dr. James F. Percy of Glenburg, Illinois, is visiting with his parents in Bloomfield.

Miss A. Graham of Brooklyn is enjoying herself with friends at 307 Belleville Ave.

The Olympic has a new flag pole in place of the old one which the lightning shattered.

Tuesday, August 9th, will be observed as a holiday by the business men of Bloomfield.

The Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. expect to have an excursion about the middle of August.

Paul Brown, a ranchman from Kansas, is visiting his uncle, Rev. H. W. Ballantine, D. D.

Miss Lulu Walker of Philadelphia is enjoying a visit with Miss Clara Lind of Maple St.

Geo. B. Smith and family have taken a house at Point Pleasant, N. J., with Frank G. Tower and his family.

Andrew S. Simpson met with a severe loss, as on Sunday his gray mare, valued at $250, died of colic.

The street car service between Bloomfield and Newark has improved somewhat. They are now running fresh air cars.

Lieutenant Inspector Maxfield will report to the Town Committee on Monday, the result of his tour of inspection of the saloons.

There is an ordinance against bicycle riding on the sidewalks. Those who know the law best are the most frequent transgressors.

Cats on Broad St., between Benson and Maple Streets have been feasting on spring chicken and have nearly exhausted the supply.

Monday morning two hundred and fifty mission children came up the canal from Newark and had a merry time in a grove at Stone House Plains.

There will be a regular meeting of the Town Committee next Monday at 3.45 P. M. There will be a full budget of business to transact.

The King's Daughters of the Baptist Church on Tuesday entertained the Garfield Street Mission Sunday School of Newark.

Mrs. S. C. Hamilton is with friends at Doughton. The doctor leads a migratory life between Pompton, Bloomfield and Orange.

Essex Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, in response to the appeal of the Mountaineer Hospital, have collected $134.25 which will be sent to the Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Laird are visitors on East Park Place. They came from Doughton, Mich., where Mr. Laird is superintendent of the Public Schools.

On Monday, Mary James, colored, complained that James Delhagen, a boy of 16 had abused her and charged him with disorderly conduct. He was bound over to keep the peace.

Wm. Colfax has been to Plainfield to see his brother, Joseph Colfax, formerly of Bloomfield and now in business at Centreville, Iowa. He is staying with his sister at Plainfield.

The Fairview Association are up in arms against making Newark Avenue anything less than one hundred feet wide. They propose that it shall continue to be a broad highway.

A chimney on fire in the Bowery on Tuesday night caused an alarm of fire, that brought out the whole town. There was some difficulty in sounding the alarm from the proper box.

Policeman Bayless was roused at about 2.30 Tuesday morning to go in chase of some man, who, it was said had knocked a man down on Montgomery St. He didn't find any clue to him.

There will be a general clearing out sale next Monday at 276 Glenwood Avenue. Promptly at 11 A. M. Post and Moffat will commence the sale. Everything has got to go, as look out for bargains.

Essex Hook and Ladder Company will attend divine service at the First Presbyterian Church to-morrow evening. The Chaplain, Dr. H. W. Ballantine, will preach to them.

On Tuesday evening the officers of Eureka Lodge No. 46, Knights of Pythias were installed by District Deputy Reeves. A number of brethren of Plato Lodge of Orange were present.

People who will persist in putting letters in the boxes without stamp, must not be surprised if the letters do not reach their destination. Putting the money in the box is useless and contrary to law. One cent postage on letters is obsolete.

Lawrence T. Jones, residing at the corner of Montgomery Avenue and Williamson Avenue, lost an infant daughter, which was buried in Greenwood Cemetery on Thursday. Jno. G. Keyler & Son had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Early passers-by on Broad Street last Tuesday were of the opinion that James D. Cooper had gone into the green grocer business, as a lot of green corn, etc., had been heaped upon his store step. It was the work of some of the bright lads of our town who at up nights to concoct mischief.

There is nothing put in a house at the present time which adds so much to the finish as a wooden mantel with tile hearth and facings. The Bloomfield Mantel Co., 451 Bloomfield Avenue, make a fine exhibit of goods in this line, and at very low prices for such superior work.

The Morris and Essex Railway employees will have a monster excursion to Delaware Water Gap next Tuesday. Everything has been arranged for the accommodation of their many friends. It is one of the finest excursions that can be taken by rail. Everyone who goes will be amply repaid by the beautiful country.

The following are the best bowling scores made at the Olympic during the past week. Mrs. Frank G. Tower, 204, Mr. Frank G. Tower, 198, Mr. Frank Van Aken, 189, Mr. L. Coyle, 175, Mrs. A. A. Pierce, 131.

Westminster Sunday School next Tuesday will entertain about sixty children from Olivet Chapel on Second Avenue, New York, at Glenwood Park. Refreshments will be provided and everything done to make these strangers from Gotham happy.

The lamp posts seem to have been put up without any degree of regularity as to height. Some are sunk so low that the mail boxes touch the ground—Some have a leaning towards the south, and there is not one that stands erect. If they should have a cast of paint, it would surprise them.

The Scribner & Smith circus on Thursday afternoon and evening drew a large crowd. The trained dogs were good and in fact so was everything they presented. There were two clowns and that was almost too much for a very hot night. We noticed judges, lawyers, politicians and citizens of note among those who clapped their hands with delight.

The Grand Army Re-Union at Washington, D. C., in September, will be remarkable. Fully 60,000 veterans, it is expected, will be at the National Capital. Citizens have subscribed $50,000 and Congress will appropriate $100,000 more to entertain the old veterans. Pierson Post, G. A. R., should be fully represented and concerted action should be taken at once. No time to lose. Fall in for Washington!

Glen Ridge Notes.
Nathan Russell has as his guest in Glen Ridge, Charles N. Darling of Lexington, Mass.

C. E. Breeden, who has been home for a few days, has gone back to New Hampshire, where cooler breezes blow.

Hillside has the macadam pavement from curb to curb and the avenue presents a fine appearance.

Watessing and East Orange.
Charles E. Parker of Watessing is spending his vacation at Wallingford, Conn.

Mrs. William Ellor went to Ocean Grove on Tuesday to be gone a few weeks.

Mr. Frederick Pich and family left this week for Ocean Grove to be gone several weeks.

The Misses Hannah and Flora Butterworth of Lawrence St. left for a visit at Lowell, Mass. this week.

On Sunday evening the Rev. Elbert Clement will preach from the text, The Logic of it, or the Plea for Sabbath Recreation Accepted.

Wm. H. Hall, letter carrier, was bitten by a dog on Friday morning while delivering mail at Calvin McCroly's house, No. 19 Watessing Avenue.

On Wednesday evening the trustees of the Free Public Library Association held their regular meeting. William Irwin and Arthur Ellor were elected members.

The funeral of Mrs. Harry Phillips, who died last Saturday morning, was held in the Methodist Church on Monday afternoon. She was a bright and attractive young woman, and her death has caused sorrow in a large circle of friends.

There was a meeting of the Sunday School board last Monday evening at which arrangements were completed for the Sunday School excursion. They will go to Iona Island, Saturday, July 23. Trains will leave the Watchung crossing at 7.30 A. M. This is one of the most delightful trips anyone can take and one could not go with any better people.

Fred Mohrman, who is known in that limited region of Fairview as its Patriarch, stands so erect when in church that he is known as the tall Synagogue of Watessing. He has a voice like a flute, and when he walks the earth trembles.

Montclair and Caldwell.
The Montclair Club gave a smoking concert on Tuesday evening. A well arranged musical programme which was finely executed added very much to the enjoyment of those present.

Chas. H. Johnson and family sailed for Europe Wednesday on the steamer Britannia.

Montclair Council Royal Arcanum were visited on Tuesday night by Deputy Grand Regent Congdon, of Arlington.

The Montclair A. C. Junior Ball Club play the Englewood Field Club reserves to-day on the Valley Road ground, Montclair.

The Seniors of the M. A. C. play the Manhattan of New York to-day, upon the grounds of the latter.

A party will leave Montclair to-day for Greenwood Lake, where they will camp out for a week or ten days. Abner Bartlett, Jr. and William Meyers of Montclair, with Peter Kaufman, and William Frank of Watessing are in the party.

Roseville Benevolent Society.
The first annual excursion under auspices of the Roseville Benevolent Society will be to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, Tuesday, August 9, 1892.

Train leaves Central R. R. Station, Broad St., at 8.30 A. M., stopping at Ferry St., Elizabethport and Long Branch. Returning, leaves Asbury Park at 8.00 P. M. The tickets are for adults, $1.00; children, 50 cents.

The primary object of the Roseville Benevolent Society is to establish a home for crippled children.

The need of such an institution has long been felt in this community, there being no home provided for this unfortunate class. The managers make this appeal to a generous public for aid in this object.

The Society, it may be added, is entirely unsectarian. An initiation fee of 25 cents a year with monthly dues of 10 cents, enable every one to become a working member; and those who cannot conveniently become working members can be constituted honorary members by the payment of 25 cents per month. Children are invited to join. The Society meets every Thursday at 4 P. M., at 15 Myrtle Avenue, Roseville, thus giving every member a chance sometimes to be present. Contributions of money and clothing are kindly solicited, and we trust that all who believe in a common brotherhood will aid in this much-needed work.

Impartial and Right to the Point.

From The Press.

Strikers at Homestead, like strikers everywhere, have the undoubted right to argue, to entreat, to use any form of moral suasion they may select in order to prevent other men from taking places they do not choose to fill themselves.

But the moment that a body of working-men forcibly hinder other men from going to work they assail the liberties of individuals and commit a crime against civilized society. The right to work and the right to refuse to work are similar and inalienable. If the State of Pennsylvania should undertake by armed force to oblige the strikers to return to labor in the Carnegie mills every workman in the country would justly denounce the outrage. Yet the wrong would not be one whit greater than if the organized strikers should drive other men desirous to labor out of Homestead at the muzzle of their Winchester. The principle is precisely the same in both instances.

The Colored Population.
(From The N. Y. Tribune, July 15th.)

Washington, July 14.—The Census Office to-day issued a bulletin on the subject of the colored population of the United States in 1890. The bulletin shows that the total colored population, as returned under the census of 1890, is 7,638,360. Of this number, 7,470,040 are persons of African descent, 107,475 are Chinese, 2,039 are Japanese, and 83,806 are civilized Indians.

Considering persons of African descent it is seen that there has been an increase during the decade from 1880 to 1890 of 889,247, or 13.51 per cent, as against an increase during the decade ending in 1870 to 1880 of 1,700,784, or 34.85 per cent. The bulletin says: "The abnormal increase of the colored population of the South during the decade ending in 1880 led to the popular belief that the negroes were increasing at a greater rate than the white population. The present census has shown, however, that the high rate of increase in the colored population as shown by the census of 1880, was apparent only, and was due to the imperfect enumeration of 1870 in the Southern States."

Don't Take to Postal Cards.
The postoffice department is nothing if not gallant to the women. It has been so kind as to get out a cute little postal card 3½ inches wide and 4 inches long, especially but not exclusively for feminine use. When they were first put on sale it was thought there would be a great rush for them and billiard balls, 2½ inches wide by four inches long, would crowd the mail sacks. But the women did not rush and the little cards are not in the push. They are attractively printed in blue ink with a picture of General Grant in the corner and a little blue shield at the top near the center. But neither the photograph of General Grant nor the more fanciful decorations of the cards have been successful in creating a yearning in the feminine heart for them.

The superintendent of the stamp department in the Kansas City postoffice said the other day: "They sell very poorly in comparison with the larger sizes. Occasionally a lady asks for a nickel's worth, just to try them, but there is nothing like a demand for them. Very few ladies use postal cards at all. Those who do are mostly business women, and the business woman wants to be just as big and bold as a man and will have no insipid, effeminate trifling in the way of miniature postal cards. The large size, 4 by 6 inches, is the most popular selling card. The small card was intended as a convenience for the ladies, but they don't seem to appreciate it."—Kansas City Star.

W. V. S. & Co.

Many times since the Special Sale in our Clock Department began we have gained customers through the glowing reports taken to them by people who made a purchase and went away delighted.

What we say here doesn't convey the true greatness of this sale; you must see THE GOODS to realize it fully. It is evident already that none of these goods will be left to take into the new store. The prices are too tempting. The only thing we urge now is that you come to see us before the nicest things are gone.

Cast your eye upon this:
New stylish Shirt Waists, 39c.; Lawn and Cambric Waists, 49c.; Satine and Bedford Cord Waists, 69c.; White, Black and Figured Waists, 89c.; Wrappers, 98c.; Infants' Cloaks $1.25; Wool Blouses, $1.39; Blazer Jackets, $1.98; Reefers $2.25; Lined Cheviot Jackets, $3; Silk Waists, $3; Dusters, $1.75.

These prices are absolutely no indication of the value of the goods—you will admit that when you see them. We are simply making preparations for removal—that is all—and you will never regret it if you take advantage of this chance. Go upstairs for this department.

THE COMING MAN.
A pair of very chubby legs
Embossed in scarlet hose.
A pair of little staidy boots,
With rather dainty toes.
A little kilt, a little coat—
Cut as a mother can—
And let below us stands in state
The future's "coming man."

His eyes, perchance, will read the stars,
And search their unknown ways;
Perchance the human heart and soul
Will open to their gaze.
Perchance their keen and flashing glance
Will be a nation's light—
Those eyes that now are wistful bent
On some "big fellow's" kite.

Those hands—those little busy hands—
So sticky, small and brown;
Those hands whose only mission seems
To pull all order down—
Who knows what latent strength may be
Hidden in their clasps.
Though now 'tis but a taffy stick
In sturdy hold they grasp.

Ah, blessings on those little hands,
Whose work is yet undone
And blessings on those little feet,
Whose race is yet begun.
And blessings on the little brain
That now is bent on thought,
Whatever the future holds in store,
God bless the "coming man!"
—Somerville Journal.

At a Marriage License Window.
A marriage license window is a queer place, and one at which human nature is bared to official inspection as it seldom is in any other government office. Hither come the gossips to ask whether certain couples whose names were published the other day have yet got married; to ask what sort of a looking man it was who took out a license to wed with Susie Todd—was he tall and light or stout and dark? And hither come angry mothers to say that no permit should have been given for their daughters, who are not so old as was said. They ask the law can be invoked to punish the offending bridegrooms. But there are other brides who appear to be forty or thirty, yet declare themselves thirty or twenty.

Back comes a man to ask if his permit number cannot be changed, because he wants to buy a lottery ticket of the same number as his wedding license, and cannot do so unless a change is made. Old men speak for girlish brides, and ancient wrinkled women lead up very young men, holding their arms as if they might escape. Once a girl came weeping, and said the man she meant to marry lay dying, and there was not a moment to lose. Indeed, it is a queer place, and the whole illimitable gamut that novelists have spanned in many chapters is there at hand still sounding fresh notes and offering new chords.—Julian Ralph in Harper's Weekly.

Kilgore and the Poetess.
The Hon. Constantine Buckley Kilgore, of Texas, has got himself into hotter water than ever he experienced before. Because of his objections to special pension bills Mr. Kilgore has had all sorts and conditions of men, women and children carp on him and renege on him in various degrees of ire and woe. He has stood up against all this very manfully. It is by no means improbable, however, that he will soon succumb.

There is after him Mrs. Sarah A. Ulrich-Kelley, of Pennsylvania. She is what Senator John Sherman would call a "widow woman." She is also a poet and wants to be a pensioner. She is known the country throughout as the "Bard of Shanty Hill." Her husband was a sergeant in a Pennsylvania regiment during the late war. She has been to Mr. Kilgore and wept because he has objected to the passage of her bill. The pension office has, by the way, said that she is not entitled to a pension. She is not at all pretty, but that is neither here nor there, for even the pretty ones have any effect upon the Hon. Constantine Buckley when they plead before him.

But she has come at him in another and an awful way. She has dropped into poetry and dropped the poetry upon Kilgore. She has published a pamphlet in her most poetic vein for a pension. This pamphlet she has dedicated to Mr. Kilgore with the compliments of the author, and this adjuration, "May God bless you and soften your hard heart." Here is a specimen of what is contained in the appeal poetical:

My only son, a poet, too, one year hath been
His funeral yet unpaid should make angels sadly weep.
—Washington Cor. Richmond Times.

Wages of Women and Men.
The Association of Collegiate Alumnae has begun to search for the causes of the disparity in wages of men and women doing the same work. To women at least the discussion of this subject is always interesting, and the results of the investigation will be awaited with impatience. The political economists have taught us that the chief causes of this disparity are custom, which sanctions the lower wages paid to women, and the fact that the number of occupations open to women are few in comparison with the number of women seeking to earn money.

Mr. Wallin, the head of the Massachusetts bureau of statistics, who has studied the matter carefully, does not think that women who do just the same work as men are paid less. He finds at least that in the case of women in the professions or in the highest walks of industry their wages approach more nearly to those of men. He finds that the majority of women wage earners belong to the unhappy class of unskilled labor, and that in their pursuits they compete with other women as well as with men. In general, to remove the disparity of wages this statistician advises organization on the part of women workers; more efficient training for women in industry; further advancement for women into the higher pursuits; a general improvement in wages by an elevation of the standard of living in the family.—Exchange.
